I cannot rate Nick and the team at Content Caretaker highly enough. From my initial enquiry into the possibility of creating a new website for our school to the finished article, Nick has supported me all the way.

The level of individual customer care and response to questions I raised throughout the process has been outstanding – all for the fraction of the cost one might pay other more commercial school website design companies. This is such an important consideration in the current financial climate.

Everyone in the Corsham Regis Primary Academy community has commented so positively on the layout and functionality of the website. The best thing is I feel totally reassured that if I need any help with the website I can contact Nick straight away.
